Taming the Tycoon (Entangled Indulgence) By Amy Andrews

Real estate tycoon Nathaniel Montgomery is one deal away from making his first billion and fulfilling a promise to his dying father. Nothing will stop him from tearing down the decrepit St. Agnes hospital and erecting posh condos in its place. Not even the crystal-wearing, health food store owner whose publicity stunt lands him in the hospital.

After her brush with death five years ago, child prodigy Addie Collins learned what's truly important--health, happiness, and the two-hundred-year-old rose garden at St. Agnes. To make amends for the accident, she agrees to pose as Nathaniel's girlfriend at his eccentric grandmother's birthday party.

But Addie has an ulterior motive. To repay her debt to the universe, she must show him there's more to life than making money. Nathaniel hates to lose, but as she breaks through his defenses, losing himself in Addie's arms might be exactly what this tycoon needs...

Editorial Review

Review

"What a beautiful story. It is an emotional roller coaster that left me cheering Addie and hoping for a HEA" Cookiep

..was a really, really goodromance. I will say one thing or maybe two....this author knows how to write sex scenes that are simply off the chart. From the plot, sex, and the humor.. this is one read I will not be forgetting any time soon." Arlena

"I cried like a baby, laughed like a loon and grinned like crazy."

From the Author

There's just something about a straightlaced tycoon having his world turned upside down by a slip of a woman, don't you think?

Nathaniel is very rich - he's a millionaire. He's coveting his place on billionaire row. The last think he needs is some hippy chick on a mission coming along to stop him. To make him stop and smell the roses! But that's exactly what wise-beyond-her-years Addie does.

I hope you enjoy this funny, quirky, sexy, enemies-to-lovers story set in London with an alpaca or two thrown in :-)

From the Inside Flap

Favourite reader quotes -

But damn it, if he could be nonchalant about a woman rubbing herself against his giant erection like it was a stripper's pole, then so could she."

"Must not do evil tycoon in garden."

"Nathaniel suddenly felt as if he'd been plonked into an I Dream of Jeannie episode."

"Please give me a chance to make you happy. I make this promise to you in this beautiful garden you fought so hard for, that I will spend every day putting you first."

"Sure. Although I should give you fair warning. I can't promise to be so gentlemanly again should you get horny at five a.m. tomorrow morning."

"Rubbing herself against a sleeping man just wasn't on. It was morally questionable. Probably illegal. Definitely icky. But why oh why did bad things always feel so damn good? Just once more, she promised herself as she pushed back into him again. "Addie, I am not made of stone."

"Stop now," he warned, low and husky, "or forever hold your peace." Addie froze, mortified. "I'm..." What? I'm what? Depraved? Disturbed? Disgusting? How long had he been awake?"

"She felt sorry for him. A hippie chick who looked like she bought her clothes at Oxfam and a puff of wind could blow her over?"

"Nathaniel's gaze fell on the crystal-encrusted pendant around her neck. "You own a shop that sells crystals?"
