Editorial Review

Review

"Herman Melville is one of American literature's greatest figures." --The Cambridge Guide to Literature in English

About the Author

HERMAN MELVILLE (1819-1891) was born in New York City. Family hardships forced him to leave school for various occupations, including shipping as a cabin boy to Liverpool in 1839--a voyage that sparked his love for the sea. A shrewd social critic and philosopher in his fiction, he is considered an outstanding writer of the sea and a great stylist who mastered both realistic narrative and a rich, rhythmical prose. He is best known for his novel Moby-Dick and the posthumously published novella Billy Budd.

Lauren Robinson:

As a scholar exactly feel bored for you to reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library or to make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's internal or real their pastime. They just do what the professor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring and also can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important for you personally. As we know that on this era, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Bartleby, the Scrivener: A Story of Wall Street can make you sense more interested to read.
